Introducing GRID Autosport You've all heard of famous titles like Forza Horizon, Need for Speed, DiRT Rally, GRID... right? Fear not, because today we bring you a great racing product, the GRID Autosport game. GRID Autosport is developed by Feral Interactive, a cross-platform game development company. Inspired by the iconic PC racing game GRID. The mobile version is out now. Are you ready to take part in breathtaking racing with terrorist supercars? Gameplay Have you played mobile racing games like Asphalt 9: Legends, Real Racing 3, etc. Mobile games often have fairly simple gameplay. You participate in the race, the car accelerates. Your task is to guide him to the destination using navigation, brakes or nitro. I'm not saying it's easy, but the gameplay is really simple, they ignore most of the things a racer has to do on his car. For GRID Autosport, the developer has created the most realistic game for racing fans. The car never accelerates, you have to accelerate it at will. The car is also not equipped with an automatic transmission, controlling the number of cars is one of the keys to winning the game. In addition, the steering and brake transmission is preserved. An ordinary racing game, easy enough to learn. From there you can join the game. Only when the tasks become more difficult, the opponents become more difficult. During this time you have to train, improve your racing skills. When it comes to GRID Autosport, many new players complain: "Why doesn't my car accelerate anymore?", "Why does my car just spin?", "Why is this happening" or is my car sliding instead? because it will roll down the road? There are many other questions. But in short, because they can't get used to the feeling of driving a real car. Requires practice from the first rounds. Keeping the car running is a big achievement. The game also has an auto-acceleration feature. But for some reason, the developer makes it really fun. It's not as smooth as other games. It's harder for you to get used to than usual. Supercar Collection Of course, those who love racing must have their favorite cars. And often these preferences will be completely different. The car system in this game includes more than 100 cars ready to satisfy a wide variety of tastes. In addition, you can also improve the car by repainting it to your liking. Graphics The graphics of this game are designed in a realistic way. From racing tracks to jungles, deserts, hills, over 100 different tracks. The developer focuses on creating details to make it as realistic as possible. The action is also very smooth and fluid. You can completely take a break from racing, or you can just take a walk in this game. But keep in mind that if you don't finish too long, you may also lose. Paid version of GRID Autosport APK.
